Theory and Practice of Software Testing, 11th International Conference

Discover the Tester in You

Riga, Aula Magna of University of Latvia, July 6, 2010

Scope and goal

The conference continues a series of annual conferences started in 2000. The objective of the conference is to establish a communication and knowledge sharing on software testing among all types of IT professionals, researchers and students. The goal is to discuss the industry experience, revisit the theoretical foundations of testing, to challenge the existing stereotypes. The conference will form part of the international forum "IT: From local to global".
